

OMAHA IS OFFERING A NUMBER OF NEW COURSES NEXT TERM

New Classes in Political Science,
Literature, Etc.

DR. JAMES TO TEACH

A number of new courses are to be offered at Omaha University next semester. They are Elementary Expression by Dr. W. Gilbert James. International Relations, and Federal Constitution by Prof. S. L. Witman. Writing for Publication by Prof. Hugh R. Orr. Victorian Age by Mrs. Mildred Gearhart, and Business Psychology by Prof. L. M. Bradfield.

Second Semester courses not offered this term will include Shakespearean Interpretation by Dr. James, the Modern Novel, the Essay, and the Modern Drama by Prof. Orr. Public Finance by Prof. Whitman. Experimental Psychology by Prof. Bradfield. Mental Hygiene by Mrs. Pearl Weber. Social Order by Dr. Vartanian, and in the educational field, Test and Measurements. History of Education, and Special Methods by Prof. L. O. Taylor. A second semester course in accounting will be opened as well as beginning courses in accounting, sales, law, and shorthand.

According to Dr. James, Elementary Expression will deal with the development of a distinct English pronunciation. How to be a natural speaker, how to acquire vocal purity and energy and how to phrase will be taken up. This will be a two hour subject.

The course entitled the Victorian Age will take up the representative writers of that period. Such as Tennyson, Ruskin, and Browning, as well as a sketch of the preceding period. It will include an intensive study of the Victorian period as opposed to the rapid survey offered in the regular English literature course. A study will be made of the life and times of these writers as they are reflected in their literature.

International Relations will embrace the study of international governments; the social and political relationships between nations and the great structure of government which support these factors. Likewise current problems of vital interest will be taken up in this three hour course.

The scope of study of the Federal Constitution class will be from the standpoint of the framing of the constitution of the United States, judicial decision, and interpretations, and an examination of the constitution as (Continued on page 4)

Misner School of Spoken Word Founded By Ernest Misner Is Only One of Kind in West

Omaha University students were delightfully entertained by players from the Misner School of the Spoken Word and Fine Arts, who gave "Speaking to Father" at assembly on Wednesday, December 10.

The "hard-boiled" Mr. Septimus Pickering, pickle king and father of Caroline, was played by Earl Newton, Conrad, Ia., while Luella Pickering, his wife, was Miss Gretchen Smith, Tekamah, Neb. The role of Caroline Pickering, the daughter, was taken by Katherine Creglow, Jackson, Mich., while the part of the young lover, Edward Worthington Swinger, who is also called "Jiggle," was interpreted by Gerald Bradley, Conrad, Ia. Professor Misner, an apostle of repose, was Victor Holladay, Geneva, Neb.

These young actors are students of the Misner School, a professional dramatic art school. This institution was founded in Omaha about fifteen years ago by Mr. Ernest Raymond Misner. Students come from all parts of the United States to enroll in this school. In addition to the regular day school, there is a night course, and also summer sessions.

The life of Mr. Misner is an inspiring

PSI KAPPA GAMMA POSTPONES MEETING

Psi Kappa Gamma, Psychology Club, has postponed its meeting of Wednesday, December 17, until after the holidays. This action was necessary because of the basketball game with Midland College coming on the same night.

Dr. Laurance R. Plank has been engaged to speak at the next meeting. His topic, "Psychology as Applied to Everyday Life," will be of vital interest to everyone. Those interested are asked to watch the bulletin board for announcement of this meeting and then bring their friends. There will be no admission charge.

Officers of Psi Kappa Gamma are: N. K. Woerner, President; John Barber, Vice-President; Earl Hargrove, Secretary-Treasurer. Anyone interested in joining the Psychology Club will see one of the officers for information regarding same.

Help the Nebraska Tuberculosis Association in their yearly drive by buying a few of the attractive Christmas seals now on sale in the office of the Dean of Women. The stamps are one cent apiece and can be purchased in handy book forms also.

This drive is being carried on extensively in all colleges and universities.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

At this Yuletide Season, we look back upon a year filled with manifold blessings. Life's Treasure House is stored with a bountiful harvest. Joy, peace, and good will reign supreme.

It is our hope that the New Year may open auspiciously and that each day may add new blessings of Happiness and Prosperity.

*May Christmas bring you added joys
And lock them in your heart,
Remaining through the glad New Year
Forgetting to depart.*

Boys' Glee Club Meets Tonight

The boys glee club met last Thursday night for the first time for three weeks. A fairly good sized turn out resulted in a determination on the part of those present to get enough out at the next meeting for a full fledged glee club.

Professor Hanson stated that the prospects for a good glee club are splendid in this school. The glee club which is trying to be organized should be as much a part of the school as the football team or any other organization on the campus.

Walford Marrs was appointed to manage the group in its effort to make a larger and better glee club. The club will meet in the auditorium tonight. All those interested should by all means be there at eight o'clock as this will be the last meeting until after vacation.

NEW PSYCHOLOGY COURSE

A course in experimental psychology will be offered second semester, according to Prof. L. M. Bradfield. The demand for this course has caused its being offered in the middle of the year. New apparatus has been purchased, which makes the Psychology Department one of the best equipped in the state.

All interested in this interesting subject will gladly see Prof. Bradfield as soon as possible. General Psychology is the only requirement necessary.

Tuesday, December 9, Dr. James, as a guest of the Lion's club, inspected the Emerson-Offing Iron company. After being shown the factory, they were tendered a splendid luncheon by the company at which Mr. Lane spoke on the organization and history of this institution.

Sorority and Frat Scholastic Ratings

The scholarship ratings of the sororities and the fraternities for the second semester of 1929-30 year were recently compiled by the Registrar. The standings are as follows:

Pi Omega Pi.....	84%
Phi Delta Psi.....	82%
Alpha Sigma Lambda.....	82%
Kappa Psi Delta.....	80%
Phi Sigma Phi.....	79%
Gamma Sigma Omicron.....	79%
Theta Phi Delta.....	78%
Sigma Chi Omicron.....	78%

The scholastic awards go to the Pi Omega Pi's and the Alpha Sigma Lambda's. The sorority award has been held for the preceding two years by the Gamma Sigma Omicron sorority, but will go to the Pi Omega Pi sorority this year. The Fraternity award has been held for some time by the Alpha Sigma Lambda fraternity.

Students in these Greek organizations who averaged 90 or above are as follows:

Marijorie Darling (Sig Chi)...	93%
Walford Marrs (Alpha Sig)...	93%

Friday, December 12, Dean Dunlap with Mr. L. D. Crenshaw, Leo McMillin, and Bill Barber flew to Pierre, Nebraska, where Dean Dunlap and Superintendent A. J. Severidge were the principal speakers on the program of the County Institute. Dean Dunlap talked on "Personality in Selling," and gave a lecture on "And Then Too Bethlehem."

MISS WARD PRESENTS FIRST OF LECTURE SERIES

"To set the sail is the purpose of education," said Miss Ward, Dean of the Science Hall, in her talk November 25, to the Y. W. and Y. M. meeting. "The purpose of education is to develop the potentialities within us due to biological inheritance and environment," she stated. "Education teaches us to appreciate our environment through music, art and literature; it develops character. It will build background of experience and friends for life, and lay up treasures for old age."

This is the first of a series of talks to be given on the Educational System of America, at joint Y meetings.

HAPPY NEW YEAR Radio Program

The weekly radio program presented by the University Conservatory of Music over radio station WOW on Monday afternoon, Dec. 8, opened with a group of vocal solos by Esther Dinkel, who played her own accompaniment. She is a student of Harry Cooper.

Readings by Grace Showengert and Norma Jean Warwick, pupils of Mrs. Jean Jarmin, were followed by another group of vocal solos by Maxine Delavan, who was accompanied by her mother. She is a pupil of Prof. Noel J. Logan.

Dr. W. G. James Relates History of Dramatic Department From the First

"There is no reason in the world why the University of Omaha cannot have the finest Expression department west of the Mississippi," declared Dr. James when interviewed Wednesday about the new courses in dramatics to be offered next semester. "I can relate, step by step, the history of this department back as far as 1919, he continued, reminiscing in his low, clear, colorful voice, "and we have not had an inglorious past. When I first came here we had an organized course in public speaking and each year a class play was presented. A little later we developed quite a systematic course, including Public Speaking, Expression, and Drama."

Out of this grew dramatics in its entirety in which we reached high, often carrying away the honors of first and second places. Heading the list for dramatic honors were such names as the Edwards girls, Dave Harrow, Jim Doty, and a boy named Russell, whose name escapes my memory. A little more recently, four or five years ago, Leah Daneshmand placed second in dramatics. The following year, second place honors were won by Russell Hazzell, and just three years

PALLADIANS TAKE IN NEW MEMBERS AT LAST MEETING

Mrs. Gearhart and Prof. Orr to Act as Sponsor

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Nine new members were taken into the Palladians at their last meeting, Thursday, December 11. Likewise as Miss Gloria Kurtz finds that she cannot act as sponsor for this organization, Mrs. Mildred Gearhart was asked and has accepted to serve in this capacity with Prof. Hugh R. Orr. The matter of organizing a basketball team was taken up, and John Roberts was appointed by the president, Lorane Shonfelt, to act as manager of this team.

The purposes of this organization as stated in their constitution are as follows:

1. To cultivate and maintain a true school spirit through the promulgation, promotion and support of all efforts, development and improvement of the University of Omaha.

2. To cultivate (among the members of the Palladians) a spirit of good fellowship, friendship and mutual helpfulness.

3. To provide ways and means for the development of the literary, scientific, philanthropic, and other commendable interests of the membership of the Palladians.

4. To promote clean and wholesome entertainments, having as their objective the improvement of the social life of the Palladians.

5. To do any and all things as may from time to time appear reasonable and proper to enrich the students' life of not only the members of the Palladians but of all fellow students in the University of Omaha.

In order to carry on the business of this organization the president appointed four committees. They are the committee on assembly program composed of Cleo Butler, chairman, Warren Herschner, Oliver Hasselblad, and Prof. Orr, sponsor; the courtesy committee, Marion Benson, chairman, Jeanne Swanson, Kenneth Hubler, and the committee on membership, Elma Gove and Louis Leeder, co-chairman, Mrs. Gearhart, sponsor; committee on by-laws, Wilbur Olson, chairman, Helena Gerburth, John Roberts, Alice Zimmer, and Victor Michelsen; and Dorothy Mitz, DeLene Brownlee, George Deppe and Don Harris.

On January 13, Dean A. J. Dunlap will be the principle speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at Central City, Nebraska.

GREETINGS FROM THE STAFF!

The Gateway editor and her staff wish to extend to the entire student body their greetings and best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

We wish to say that during our publication of the Gateway we hope that we have not offended any one for any length of time. All the slaps made at certain persons were written in fun and were to be taken that way. Perhaps during the coming year we should not be so caustic at times. Remember, it's all in fun!

We also wish to mention the fact that the editorials are not all written by the same person. However, everything that appears in this column is heartily backed by some person on the staff, although it may not meet your approval!

If anyone feels that he could in anyway assist in the publication of this newspaper, the editor would welcome his advice, news, or labor, for it takes a great deal of labor to get out this sheet. We do not aim to have this paper be the opinion or interests of only a few of the persons around school. It is your paper as well as ours.

Again we join to give you our heartiest good wishes and resolve to put out a better paper than ever next year with your assistance and backing. Merry Christmas!

I am sending this small token
 Of remembrance kind and true,
 Just to bear a hearty greeting
 'Neath the skies of wintry blue;
 Just to wish that brimming measure
 Of the season's genial pleasure
 And the best of all good things
 That the season ever brings,
 May-be meted out to you.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

We realize that this is a wornout subject, but who ever heard of a holiday issue of a school publication without one editorial upon New Year's resolutions? After all, this is more than what we are so prone to call today, "an old Spanish custom."

Were we asked to draw up ten (somehow rules always go by tens) resolutions for the student body, we might suggest the following:

We, students of the University of Omaha, do solemnly promise and resolve to obey the following during the year of nineteen hundred and thirty-one:

1. To emphasize the good rather than the faulty features about the school, or in modern English, to be boosters, not knockers.
2. To improve our grades. (This is safe, and is perennially renewed without many noticing the difference, we fear!)
3. To eliminate all questionable methods of obtaining information for written work.
4. To return library books promptly and to avoid conversation in the library while studying.
5. To loyally attend athletic contests in which the school is engaged.
6. To conserve school property whenever and however possible.
7. To refrain from smoking on the campus.
8. To make attendance and punctuality records a pride to pupil and professor alike.
9. To keep "monkey shins" and other childish performances out of the classroom.
10. To report all appropriate news to the Gateway, thereby helping the regular reporters to make it more newsworthy and representative.

Duly signed and valid this 15th day of December, 1930, by The Student Body, University of Omaha.

Well, even though it hurts, bluff it. Any old chump can be a snob, and you will have accomplished something if you can at least have him snubbing when you say goodby.

Those should prove this in their memories; that man alone who has been loved who has judged them worthy of his respect.

And I can do for my friend in simply to be his friend. I can do for him by loving him he will want no other friend.

And the person who has the price will pay, and the person who has the price will pay.

And the person who has the price will pay, and the person who has the price will pay.

And the person who has the price will pay, and the person who has the price will pay.

And the person who has the price will pay, and the person who has the price will pay.

Max No Diff!

We have a suggestion for some philanthropic prof. A southern professor has decided to leave his brain to his alma mater, probably figuring that an extra wouldn't do the student body any harm.

And a Columbia prof. says that trial marriage is here to stay. Well, we must have some form of permanence in matrimony.

A bank director states that people have given up saving their money. They have also given up wagging their tails, for the same reason.

Law enforcement will receive a great boost when murder in Chicago is treated as seriously as parking beside a fire hydrant.

Yes, and a sculptor we know is dissatisfied with the statues in Chicago. They certainly would appear more realistic with their hands in the air.

Times have certainly changed. Nowadays a profit is not without honor in any country.

A certain writer says that an ideal marriage is when a man finds a beautiful girl and a good housekeeper. It sounds more like bigamy to us.

A certain other writer has written a new book entitled "Man the Master." Of course it's fiction.

This buy-it-now movement might be alright if it were accompanied by a pay-for-it-now drive.

And we hear that an insane hospital up in New Jersey has installed a miniature golf course for the amusement of its inmates. Think that over!

During this Christmas rush we have decided that heaven for the pedestrian would be a place where all the streets would always be torn up for repairs.

That new brake that can stop a seventy-mile-an-hour car is almost as good as the telephone pole.

A mechanical robot in a recent exhibition appeared to go mad, and acted very strangely. Probably a screw loose somewhere.

Business might not be such a bad tonic for business.

Love is valued highest during the days of courting and the days in court.

Revision. An apple a day may keep the doctor away, but not if it's made into hard cider.

Please Tell Me!

Dear Cynthia:

I am quite a young boy. This is the first year I have had a girl at Christmas time. What can I give her for a present? I will appreciate any suggestion that you offer.

Lovingly
 Lawrence Anderson

Dear Lawrence:

There always has to be a first time, you know. They say that experience is a dear teacher. I think that a handkerchief is a very useful gift.

Yours for service
 Cynthia.

Dearest Cynthia:

I get a lot of good out of reading your column. With Christmas approaching I'd like to get my letter to Santa Claus written. Do you think it would be asking too much if I asked him for a pocket knife and a puzzle both? I want the knife the worst.

Anxiously yours
 Fred Widoe.

Dear Freddy:

When you think of all the little boys and girls that Santa Claus has to visit, I really believe it would be asking too much to write for both of these things. You are getting old enough now to consider other people's desires also.

Yours very truly,
 Cynthia.

Dearest Cynthia:

I heard Thyra Munt ask Genevieve Cass what she was going to give her best boy friend for Christmas. This is what the answer was: "I haven't got any, but I am not going to give him any."

What does that mean?
 Eagerly yours
 Vera Holcroft.

My Dear Little Vera:

Thank you for your confidence. For four nights I have pondered on that statement and this is all the farther I can get—Let's see! Just how would you figure that out? Could it be that she is trying to cover something up?

Perplexingly,
 Cyn.

Dear Cyn:

I'd like to put an ad in the paper, so I can be sure and get rid of all the neckties, shaving mugs, books of Edgar Guest poetry, and other useful things I get for Christmas from my girl friends. It's sure tough to be popular.

Love
 Bennie Huff.

Dear Benny:

Virgil Sharpe is the person to see in regard to the ad. If you don't sell all your gifts, think of the Community Chest. I think that they would appreciate any donation on your part.

Yours
 Cynthia.

Dearest Cynthia:

I am a poor little girl who is struggling along under the pressure of a great love for that expressive eyed magnificent Wyoming man, Darrol Perrison. Please advise me just what womanly wiles I can use on him to convert him into my favor.

Lovingly yours
 Angelina White.

My Dear Angelina:

Since he is one of these fast cowboys from the West, you must at every opportunity place yourself in his way. You must be noticeable to him and you must speak to him whenever an opportunity presents itself. Smile and play up to him and I am sure he will fall for your feminine beauty.

Helpfully yours
 Cynthia.

When we are able to see through the telephone we may get pleasure out of the wrong number.

The modern girl has her way so much that she can write her diary a week in advance.

Have you met Aunt Sophie, who is so modest that she won't understand with the Christmas Observer in the room?

A literary classmate says he is getting offers from all the big magazines but doesn't think he will subscribe.

CUBS CORNER

The literary corner is intended for the publication of amateur poetry and short prose selections written exclusively by the students of the University of Omaha. The encouragement of talent along literary lines is its earnest aim. Any contributions from students will be welcome.

TO A GIRL DRESSED IN BLACK AND SCARLET ON A WINDY OCTOBER DAY—

You are a strange girl—such dreams in your eyes
 Of hidden things and magic things
 You make me think of stars.
 Your hair grows on your head as if the wind had swept
 It back in loving play,
 Since you're a child of hers.
 Your lips mysterious and shapely, twin lines of scarlet red
 Tell olden tales, sing olden songs,
 Speak dreams, I'd long thought dead.
 Hear silent things and lovely things
 Long hidden from the world.
 You hear the tree's deep music in the starry night
 Your ears, like rosy conch shells, to catch up all the sounds
 You hear the elemental songs
 Of rocks, and seas, and light.
 For you the moon has writ a sonnet; and the stars
 Ne'er silent are, but dance for you
 Perhaps a gay gavotte.
 You make the heart beat fast and set one's blood afire
 And men would die for you. Athone
 If you'd but smile on them.
 Your eyes, your hair, your lips of scarlet red do move
 Forgotten love of pagan beauty
 As men did love Helen.

Book Review

Admiral Byrd's new book, "Little America," an immensely interesting account of his exploratory expedition, is the answer to all your Christmas buying problems. Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, and secure this remarkable, this gripping masterpiece for mother, father, sister, brother, that maiden aunt, anybody!!

This great expedition to the antarctic, accomplished under such great difficulties by the fearless group of men who were willing to dedicate two years of their lives to the unveiling of some of the secrets of that vast, cold, white world, is certainly worth reading about.

The book pictures a little group of men, alone on an immense continent, living in flimsy hovels buried in ice and snow. How thrilling their trips by airplane far into the unknown! How dazzling the cold, white, sparkling beauty of their surroundings, and yet how merciless and cruel! And how amusing the serious, waddling penguins, feminine in their curiosity.

The book is mostly extracts from the journal of Admiral Byrd. It is intimate and informing. As the days pass with the turning of the pages, it is impossible not to worry with the great explorer about finances, the welfare of his men, the breaks in the ice barriers, and over his great project for which he worked and planned so long.

The book is full of rare and beautiful photographs and interesting maps. Incidentally, all the credit for success is given to the other members of the expedition. However, the remarkable personality and strength of the writer and head of the expedition creeps through, and leaves one admiring the man, the gentleman, who led a carefully chosen group of men on to success and everlasting fame.

In a Padded Cell No. 1818
 (Confessions of a Lunatic)

I was in college.
 And Lo!
 The great unexpected appeared unto me.

Saying:
 "Prepare for a Chemistry test."

I did: For many nights
 I burnt the midnight oil,
 Learning formulae and equations.
 When the day of judgment dawned,
 I was well-prepared.

But our teacher proclaimed,
 "Hail!"
 "We will not have a test."

And made me what I am.

Judge: If you ever show up here again I'll have to put you in jail.
 It's an awful place with hard beds, rotten food, bad odors and filth in every corner. Besides, you would have to associate with the very lowest of humanity.

However: You can't scare me, your honesty: I've lived for two years at the football house.

Miscellany

Howard: This is Fischer, Fischer, Fischer and Fischer, lawyers.

Voice: Oh! Hello, hello, hello and hello.

It will soon be time again for Streitwieser to go back to Carlebeth with everlasting devotion.

Keenan: I'm not thin skinned. I'm one of the first to laugh at my own foolishness.

Fay: When do you eat?

Little Boy: Last night me kissed Daddy.

Nurse: You should say, "Last night I kissed Daddy."

Little Boy: No, that was night before last.

An American lawyer attended a banquet at which Mark Twain was present. When it came his turn to speak, he arose, put both hands in his pockets and said, "Doesn't it strike the company rather queer that a comedian should be funny?"

Mark Twain waited until the laughter had subsided and replied: "Doesn't it strike the company rather queer that a lawyer should have his hands in his own pockets?"

Dr. James: I see John has had no trouble getting his B. A. and M. A.
 Mr. Barber: Yes, but his P. A. is still supporting him.

Reeves: Hello? Ish thish the Meat Market?

Voice: Yes. What can I do for you?

Reeves: Well, meet Patton for me at eight o'clock.

James: I'm through with you, you big overgrown, wall-eyed, awkward slant head. Do you get me?
 Merwin: Well, from the general trend of your conversation, I guess I don't.

Today's recent illness was a boon to his brother John.

We now hear that John is taking medicine. Bitter, John?

Prof. McKibben has figured out that the average housewife walks 50 steps in preparing a cup of coffee. We believe that the trouble with most of our coffee is lack of road work.

Minnie: If you had two wishes, what would they be?

Barbara: Well, first I'd wish for a husband.

Mae: That's one. What's the other?

Barb: I'll save it till I find out what he is like.

Dance Calendar

December 19—Phi Delta Psi at the Paxton hotel.
 December 20—Gamma Sigma Omicron at the University club.
 December 23—Phi Sigma Phi at the Paxton hotel.
 December 25—Sigma Chi Omicron at the Knights of Columbus hall.
 December 29—Kappa Psi Delta at the Fontenelle hotel.

Phi Delta Psi

The meeting of December 8 was held at the home of Barbara Dallas. The chapter entertained their mothers at tea on Saturday, December 13, at the Knights of Columbus hall.

Alpha Sigma Lambda

The regular business meeting was held following the Founders' Day banquet, which took place at the Birchwood Club on December 13. The scholarship cup was awarded to Walford Marrs for an average of 93.23 per cent.
 The formal dance will be given at the Birchwood Club on March 13.

Theta Phi Delta

On December 8, the chapter met at the home of Charles Adams, a member of the alumni group. Wrestling and basketball teams are being organized.

Plans for the formal dance have been postponed until after Christmas.

Phi Sigma Phi

A meeting was held on December 15 at the home of Harry Barber.

Gamma Sigma Omicron

The meeting of December 8 was held at the home of Rigmor Brodegaard.

The annual Homecoming banquet of the sorority will take place at the Paxton Hotel on Monday evening, December 22.

Sigma Chi Omicron

The pledges entertained at a luncheon at the Paxton Hotel on Saturday, December 13.

The alumni group will entertain the chapter at a Christmas tea on Sunday, December 21, at the home of Gladys Davis.

The sorority successfully sponsored the show, Good News, at the North Star theatre on December 12 and 13. They also sponsored the sale of Martha Washington candy on the campus during the past two weeks.

Kappa Psi Delta

Mrs. Leslie Johnson will entertain at the meeting to be held this evening.

A Christmas party will be given by the alumni group during vacation.

Pi Omega Pi

The regular business meeting will take place during Christmas vacation. A formal dance, as already announced, will be given on February 13 at the Fontenelle Hotel.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

Amid glitter and tinsel, rush and bustle, hurry and scurry, sighing and fretting, warnings and threatenings, we at last drag our weary remains to Christmas. Christmas! what a wonderfully promising word it even to the least of us! In spite of all the troubles and worries that accompany preparations for the great day, we love it! In spite of the rather empty condition of our bedraggled pocket-books afterward, we wouldn't give it up.

To realize that the birth of a tiny babe in a most lowly and unpretentious manger was the origin of our present Christmas seems too remote and vague, even the star in the east appears far off and coldly ethereal. If we have no Christmas spirit, it takes the spirit of giving, of wanting to make others happy to be near and close to the Christ in Christmas.

And thus we could go on, endlessly elaborating on Christmas and what it means to everyone, and all the while we'd just be trying to wish you all the happiest of Christmases and the merriest of New Years and so tiny Tim said "God Bless Us, Everyone."

Many Uni Students Going Home for Xmas

Papa Claus has his difficulties. College students would be the last to add to an ever overloaded sleigh by requesting a bright red wagon delivered to a wrong address. (Exception: a new Chrysler 80 has never known to be refused by anyone at that address).

Since a good many Omaha University students are registered in the great green book as living outside of Omaha, many will find it necessary to journey away from Omaha to be present at the home fireplace on Christmas Eve.

You hold the top of the page; I'll lift the bottom. Together we'll read a few names and addresses from the largest, most coveted book in the world.

Here's a name we know. Benson, Anita—it says here she reports at Chillicothe, Missouri, for her gifts. (But how in the world about N. K.'s?) Malvern, Iowa, names June Mills and Laurence Hall as belonging to it. No doubt they'll walk home together. Laurence being broke. (Reason: Gushy girl.) Christmas will find Irene Sevier at home in Beaver City, Nebr. Mary Clark and Evelyn Howard will go to Valley, Nebr. About one hundred and fifty miles farther on will be Evelyn Miner at Tecumseh. Four boys will travel east across the river. They are Dan and Pat Quinn, Arthur Classen and Roy Hulse. The Quinn brothers will go to Chicago after dropping Art off at his home in Iowa. Roy will continue on to Wisconsin.

Poor dears who have only to hop on and off a streetcar to be home for the red letter date, you say? But that's not bad as it might sound 'cause there are other red letter dates for those at home. There's the 19th and 20th. And Christmas night is the "darling" sorority dance and on the 27th comes the Kappa. Really, not half so dull as it could be.

—HAPPY NEW YEAR—

New Courses Offered In Next Semester

es again demonstrated an inter-departmental courtesy by painting the flats. We worked with perseverance and enthusiasm building up our little theatre and enlarging upon it, and it wasn't long before we had three interiors and were presenting sometimes two and three plays a year.

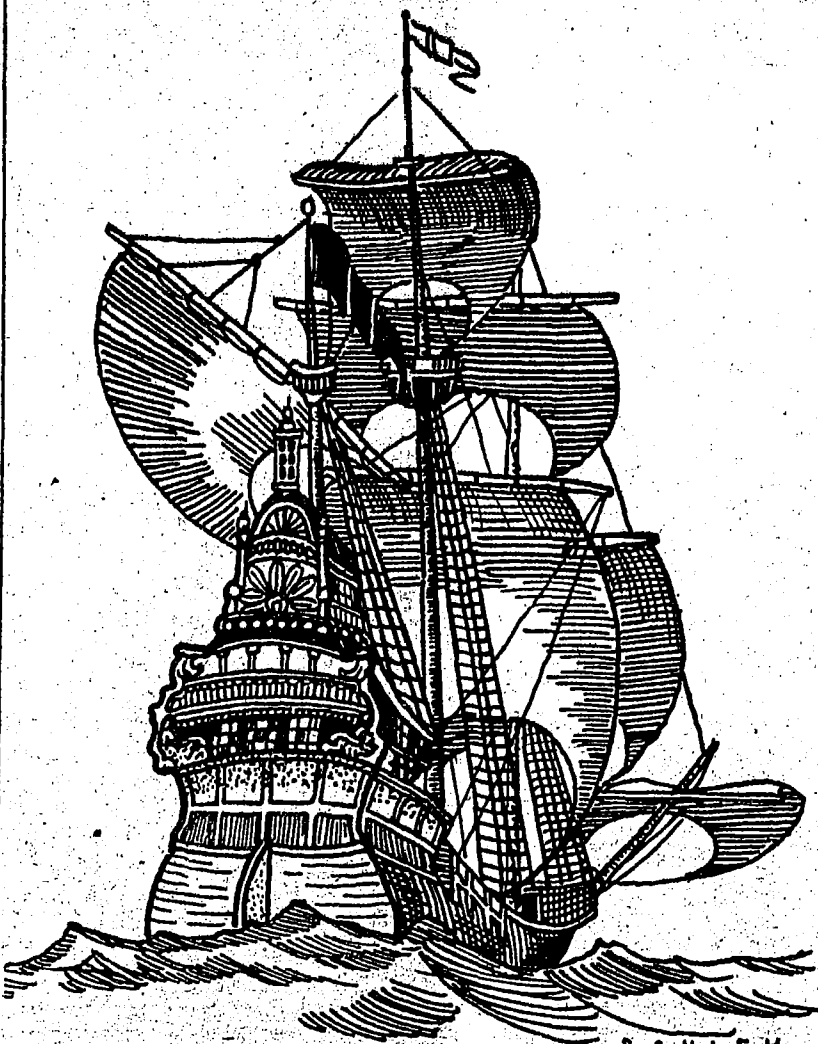

"Of course there was a Dramatic Club organized with its membership limited to those who proved their eligibility. It was from this club that the personnel of the plays was selected. Our early plays were presented by hard work on the part of the members of the department, assisted by the co-operation of other departments, and the enthusiastic support of the student body, three essentials to the success of any school enterprise."

At present the school curriculum is offering but four courses of vital interest to the student in dramatics, Mr. Johnson's class in Public Speaking, Mrs. Gearhart's course in Shakespeare and Professor Orr's class in Contemporary Drama, both of which emphasize the literary value of the plays; and Mrs. Baumeister's Play Production class.

Plans have been made to reorganize and modernize the department with the addition of such courses as Fundamentals of Expression, History of the Drama, Advanced Expression, Make-up, Repertoire and Reading. This cannot, of course, all be accomplished in one semester. Any marked reorganization of this kind requires time and necessitates additions to the present staff of teachers in this department.

"However, next semester two new courses, which I will conduct personally, will be offered. One, Fundamentals of Expression, meeting at 3:15 on Mondays and Wednesdays, will include phonetics, vocal energy and quality, emphasis, inflection, and cadence, with a general aim toward naturalness. The other course, Shakespearean Interpretation, will be a study of the dramatic value of the plays. Various parts of the plays, and the well known speeches will be studied, and some plays presented. This course will be offered at 9:00 o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

"Next year, if the University is maintained and the teaching staff is enlarged, then the additional necessary courses will be offered," he concluded.

A Cargo of Best Wishes!

AT THE ORPHEUM

The vaudeville show at the RKO Orpheum theatre for the week of December 19th, is headed by Broadway's own play boy, Jack Osterman, and as an extra added attraction Grace Abbott's "Kidnapped Follies."

It is said of musicians that the perfect technique is never noticeable. If this same thing applies to comedians, then Jack Osterman is a perfect comedian. He apparently has no set routine. In fact, whatever he does seems to be spontaneous. He is a dynamo of energy and personality and both he shares liberally with his public.

Jack and Kay Spangler, who sing and dance exceptionally well and who do these things in a different turn practically every season, are sporting their wares this year in a smart skit called "The Lobbyists."

Light opera and the vaudeville varieties have been the medium through which Eva Clark's fine soprano voice and charming personality program best described as songs you love to hear. He is assisted by Eddie Burch, a pianist of note, whose fine musicianship has been splendidly adapted to vaudeville.

The Kitaros rank extremely high as equilibrists and foot jugglers. Outside of the fact that their program is one of the most difficult ever attempted by an act of this sort, it would be worthwhile merely for the ease and grace with which it is executed.

Grace Abbott, assisted by Eddie Perrigo, the musical director of the RKO orchestra, will present a special Christmas frolic with 75 of Miss Abbott's pupils.

The picture attraction at the RKO Orpheum theatre, "See America Thrift," is a hilarious satire on gang life with Slim Summerville, Harry Langdon and Bessie Love. It is a riot of laughs from start to finish.

WHO'S WHO AT U. OF O.

The young "trosh" president with the happy smile is Dave Moriarty, late of Central High School, where he played a prominent part in school activities. In dramatics, he was manager of the Road Show, and a member of the Central High Players. In athletics, he received his letters in football, and as a "club man," he served as treasurer of the High Y. In Military work, he was Major of the first battalion in the Cadets, and was elected president of the Commissioned Officers' Club. Dave's interest and ambition in this field is keyed to quite a high degree. Each summer he spends some time at the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Fort Crook, and when he has finished this course, he will bear the title of a commissioned officer in the Reserve. Last summer Dave spent part of his vacation fishing in the Black Hills and in Minnesota, attempting to break the Coolidge fishing record of the preceding year. In Minneapolis, he witnessed Bobby Jones win the National Golf Tournament; from thence, Dave journeyed to Sioux City, where he developed his own golfing technique. This extensive travelling was done via Silver, Model T.

Another of Dave's hobbies is Natural Gas. As an employee of a Natural Gas Company here in Omaha, he is in possession of innumerable facts, and when he receives an audience, can offer point for point arguments in its favor.

"I believe Omaha made a serious mistake by rejecting Natural Gas," stated Mr. Moriarty, gravely.

At the University of Omaha, Dave is taking a pre-engineering course. He is a Theta pledge, and professes an interest in Public Speaking, Mathematics, and English Literature. As President of the Freshman Class, Dave stated that the first class meeting was devoted almost entirely to promotion of interest for Field Day activities.

"I believe," he continued, "that the University of Omaha should continue publishing a school annual, and that each class should lend its support to the publication. Everything that students do along this line of progress adds to their own glory and to the glory of the school. The University of Omaha, through the enrollment in not large, in made up of a high stamp of people—people who are willing to work for the good of the school, and because of this, if the University becomes municipal, it will advance rapidly."

Yale University Press Presents Books to Library

A consignment of books from the Yale University Press has been received by Prof. S. L. Witman. They are to be established in the library as a memorial to William Howard Taft, former President and later Chief Justice of the United States, and as a memorial to Arthur Twining Hadley, former president of Yale University. These selected publications deal in the fields of political science, international relations, and economics.

"They are a very valuable addition," commented Prof. S. L. Witman. "They will increase the possibility for research and make interesting collateral reading along the lines of political science."

New Type Graduate University Started

A university without rules for its students, lacking impressive buildings, and with its entire work centered about a small but distinguished faculty is to be established in New York.

It is the Institute of Advanced Study made possible by a gift of $5,000,000 endowment made last June by Louis Bamberger and his sister, Mrs. Felix Fuld.

The aims of the new university, which will bear many of the aspects of the Middle Ages in its form of organization, was outlined recently by Dr. Abraham Flexner, director of the new institution, who gave four general principles on which it will be established.

"The first of these," he said, "is that there shall be no intrusion of these collegiate ideas and practices that are necessary in a college, but hampering in a university. I mean that we shall have no room or time for extracurricular activities or athletics and that no attempt will be made at paternalistic control of the student body."

"Secondly, we will make no attempt at great size. Quality will be the first concern. For example, if we cannot find a first-rate teacher of mathematics we will have no course in mathematics."

"The faculty will co-operate in the management of the institution and have places on the board of trustees."

"We hope that the remuneration of our faculty members will be more fully commensurate with the importance of the positions."

"Although these principles, in many ways, are the expression of a break from tradition, we intend to imply no criticism of other universities."

"We can hope only to do what I have described because we are new and are not bound by tradition. Most of the post graduate schools in this country were built on colleges. We have the advantage in that we are starting fresh and free. This freedom may result in many mistakes which the older universities have escaped. But that is part of freedom."

"So far as other universities are concerned this is in every way a friendly effort."

How About an Annual?

Question: What do you think of a college annual?

Answers
 Charles Gardner—Well, naturally, as editor of the darn thing I think it's O. K. It sure would be a shame to have a municipal University without an annual.

N. K. Woerner—This school, in order to grow, must put out some sort of an annual each year. It reflects on the student body if this activity is neglected.

Mabel Shirely—We must have an annual. I'll give them one-half of my Gateway office for an Annual office.

Harold Glass—Sure, I want one. When are they going to come out? Floyd Winans—We gotta have one, that's all there is to it. I'll do the art work.

—MERRY CHRISTMAS—
 Jeannette Winters will move for her home in Bloomfield, Nebraska, at the beginning of next week. She will be accompanied by her sister, Helen, a former student here, who is now attending the University of Nebraska, and who will spend the coming week-end in Omaha to attend the first of the Christmas dances.

Inquiring Reporter

T'was the week before Christmas and everyone is anxious to get their order into old Santa Claus. What is Santa Claus going to leave in your stocking? I guess from the evidence around here that most of us have outgrown stockings. Victor Michelson and Edythe Grobmann both want new automobiles and we hope they get them. A ride up to Science Hall once in a while wouldn't be half bad.

Some of us get slightly frayed and worn looking before Christmas, but it isn't all on account of hard mental work. Why buy new clothes when there's a chance of getting just what we need for Christmas?

The only difference between us moderns and those of the "good olde days" is that then new skates and brand new reds were supposed to be a surprise. Now people seem to know just what Santa has for them and sometimes they even receive some of their gifts before Christmas. If you don't believe it, ask Mabel Shively.

Edythe Grobmann certainly gave an immense list of things she wanted. She could use a set of Hudson Shakespeare, fancy bed pillows, complete Berries, a car and numerous other things—but ended by saying that she would stop with that, because she thought that I couldn't carry any more, so you see what I get into?

Jeannette Winters was so definite. She merely wants books and then some more books!

Jack Patten decided that he wants a doll buggy and a dolly to put in it. He was very bashful about making his wishes known.

Lawrence Anderson was also asked what he wanted, but before he could answer Jack informed me that Lawrence had been a bad boy and Santa Claus couldn't bring him anything.

Mary Clark and Alice Nelson are very practical girls. They had their lists all made out, huge, long lists of things that they really needed and if they get all they ordered they will be very well supplied for another year.

DeLene Brownlee hadn't even thought of what she wanted Santa to bring her. She had been so busy that she hadn't had time to think of something clever. There's a girl who will be original at any cost.

I often wonder if all this being good and staying-in favor with Santa is necessary, but I never had the nerve to take a chance and prove it. Some brave person ought to try it some time, but this is only a suggestion and not a recommendation.

There is nothing like this Christmas season, though, when you think of it, and the novel part of it all is that it comes once a year regularly and never fails to create just as much thrill and enthusiasm as ever. I know that you will all agree with me that it is just the grandest feeling when you get the spirit and I hope that you all have just the happiest and best time that you ever had.

Merry Christmas, everybody!!

—HAPPY NEW YEAR—

The seniors have blossomed out! Nifty black sweaters now adorn the backs of the educated group as means of distinction. It is the only way to tell a senior from the rest of "the common herd."

The seniors all agree that "college bred" is enough "dough" for a four years' loaf. Most of us are short weight.

The class play, "The Butler and the Man," is being put into shape and rehearsals will start after the Christmas holidays. The show will be on early in the second semester. North High auditorium is being rearranged due to lack of space in our own stage.

Class plays are being considered. It is hoped that the play will be more standard so that it will attract more time and money will be saved.

—MERRY CHRISTMAS—
 Senior Meeting was postponed from Tuesday, December 19, to Tuesday, January 2, because of the long school year. The meeting will be held on that date at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium. The senior and class play will be given for Christmas.

OMAHA SQUAD CUT TO DOZEN PLAYERS

Coach Warren Howard Names Basketball Men

NEW MEN MAKE TEAM

After the afternoon practice last Friday, Coach Howard cut the squad to twelve men. Howard decided to keep Ben Huff, DeLoss Thompson, Willie Keenan, Virgil Krutchon, and Hector Evans as forwards; Bob Hegarty and Shelby Gamble, centers; Carroll Sales, Sandy Armentrout, Fred Fry, John Sulhoff and Tody Barber, guards.

These twelve men are the ones that will try to make the present season successful. While not a remarkable layout of material, the squad this year is better than last year's. The guard positions are perhaps the best filled. Besides the regular guards from last year's team, there are John Sulhoff and Sandy Armentrout. These two new men show much promise.

Coach Howard's worry is to get a scoring combination. Center Hegarty is a specialist in set up and follow in shots. Gamble, a man without much experience, is a capable understudy to Hegarty. Gamble has a good eye for the basket. The forwards, Thompson and Huff, are the men on whose shoulders the brunt of the burden of scoring will fall. Thompson's best shot is from the corner while Huff is fairly accurate from any place on the floor. The other forwards remain mostly potential power. They are good floor men, but not one of them has had much experience. However, they are developing fast and before the season is far gone, they will probably get a chance to show their wares.

Cardinals Play Practice Game With Bacchanites

The Bacchanites were here Thursday evening of last week. They came slightly late, but they were well organized and gave such a surprising attack that they won the decision and were on the road home before all were thoroughly aware of what it was all about.

The Bacchanites are a well known group of negroes who have a good basketball team. Headed by a Goliath that stood six feet four inches in height, their attack was so varied that our basketball artists were unable to match it. The colored lads won the practice game by about four points.

Although the Omahans lost the first practice game of the year, no dishonor goes with it. This particular team has played together for several years. They had the team work that the Omahans have not been able to master in the few days of practice they have had.

—MERRY CHRISTMAS—

How About It?

Have you ever received a package or a handful of cards a day or two after Christmas, when the festive air has been replaced by the drowsiness and headache which usually follow over-eating? The gift may have been much more elaborate than the one which, coming almost a week before the holidays, had been shaken and rask rumpled upon its journey, but I'll wager that the late arrival was not nearly so much appreciated.

Postal employees are to spend Christmas with their families this year. A delayed package means lessening appreciation for adults and necessitates to the children, as well as well as the adults, mail early, and trust that the one who opens with Dec. 27 will be as satisfied as well as surprised.

Cardinals Will Play Twice Before Xmas

When the Christmas Holidays arrive, the Cardinals will have played two games on their 1930 basketball schedule. Coach Howard, noticing that his charges were playing like exhausted men, decided that they were deserving of a rest and called off practice for the first time last Saturday. His vacation was short lived, however, for Monday he began a rigorous two-day preparation for the opening game of the season with Midland, Wednesday night. From the reports sent out, the Midland cagers have the material for another good team this year.

Tarkio will be played Thursday night. These two games will be the only tilts before the holidays; both frays were on the home floor.

—MERRY CHRISTMAS—

FRATS ORGANIZE LEAGUE

There will be another intermural basketball league this year. The league will have four members; the Paladians, Thetas, Alpha Sigs, and Phi Sigs. These four teams will be under the tutorage of Mr. Bradfield. Mr. Bradfield meets each team once a week and tries to impress the players with the essentials of the game. His is a noble endeavor. The outlook for the season is very bright, according to the predictions of the various players. John Barber declares the Thetas are a cinch. (Kenneth Hubler says the Paladians will win in a walk! We wonder what they will do in basketball? Jelen picks the Alpha Sigs. Wilson likes the looks of the Phi Sigs. Look's don't win basketball games.)

The past season's playing reminded the audience of the death struggle of pre-historic gladiators. The motto of each player seemed to be "kill or die." The spirit developed in such games greatly pleases the spectators. The exact date of the season's opening has not yet been definitely decided.

Wanted: Some attractive young woman to report on women's sports. The young lady need not have had any previous experience. Apply to sport's editor at once. Have you noticed:

How many John Roberts carries himself since he took up wrestling? The new waiter in the cafeteria? The expectant faces watching the calendar?

How little the down town newspapers mention our school? How high Shelby Gamble can jump after the basketball?

That Moxie Altschuler is a handball artist?

—HAPPY NEW YEAR—

There have been some minor injuries on the basketball squad during the past week. Bennie Huff collided with Krutchon and received a bent nose. The incident was painful but not serious. Bennie's nose now appears normal. Tody Barber threw his trick arm out of place. Some things simply don't know their place. Tody's injury is not serious as it was in football. He expects to keep on playing basketball and let the arm take care of itself.

YALE AND PRINCETON BANDS UNITE AT GAME

The bands of Yale and Princeton appeared together and played together for the first time in football history at the Yale-Princeton game this year.

Not since Yale and Princeton began playing football in 1875 has such an event taken place before.

The two bands lined up. Yale's forming a letter "Y" and Princeton's forming a "P", and joined in playing Yale and Princeton songs.

MAY SANTA BE GOOD THIS YEAR

Rasslin' Ripples

A new student activity developed on the campus last week. It is known as the Rassler's Club, composed of beefy, brawny and hefty meat tossers. These men will grunt and groan for the populace in intramural meets held in our gym.

At the meeting A. J. Dunlap suggested the men form a Rassler's Club and from this club develop a rassling team to meet competition which they expect to have in the near future. Mr. Doughtitt has been selected as a coach from a long list of mentors who are skilled in the art of heaving and neck breaking. Mr. Doughtitt was a member of the University of Denver's Varsity Wrestling Team for three years. He now is wrestling in the A. A. U. According to reports Mr. Doughtitt will have a wealth of material in such notables as Harvey Longmeyer, Pat and Daniel Quinn, Floyd Wilson, Quarter Pint Sevik, John Roberts, and Wee Willie Kennan, Shinrock, Charles Gardner, Hays, Strehman and Butler.

A committee of four members, Butler, Quinn, Sevik and Wilson were appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws for this new and highly altruistic organization.

Harvey Longmeyer was elected President, and Floyd Wilson was elected Secretary Treasurer. These men have pledged themselves to devote all their spare time and efforts to sustain and develop the interest of the public at large and that group of intellectuals who attend the University of Omaha. The first series of meets will be between the huskies of the different fraternities. Here will be an excellent opportunity to settle old scores and to construct new ones. The men will start training immediately on raw beefsteak and dwarfies. They are endeavoring to develop mighty biceps and hiccoughs. They seek to strengthen their thews and flat feet. Many interesting programs of bone crushing have been planned and an interesting time is promised to all.

Upon the termination of the first practicing session of the Rassler's Club several members were seen limping their weary way towards the hospital. Broken bones, crushed ribs, bloody noses and battered heads were put a few of the minor injuries sustained by these stalwarts who engage in the brutal pastime of wrestling.

It has been suggested that each member of this organization should be amply covered by insurance so as to prevent any Potter Field Burials. Of course if it should be serious enough to warrant a funeral there is the likelihood that there will not be enough left of the bodily remains to bother burying. A new sponge and bucket has been purchased by the authorities in case of an emergency. If quicker action is obtained, enough of the remains might be gathered by the sponge and bucket to establish the identity of the unfortunate member.

The Grunt and Groan club has passed a resolution to the effect that all members not provided with identification discs, be provided with them at once. Everything possible is being done to insure the success of this club of musclebound ham tossers. There is only one thing that stands in the way of the complete success of this organization and that is the city restriction prohibiting the mistreatment of dumb animals. A lawyer has been engaged to protect the best interest of the club in face of the tremendous opposition that has sprung up from the Old Home Ladies Sewing and Culture Club. These worthy people have found it necessary to take legal steps to stop this nefarious practice of bone crushing and spontaneous groaning and grunting.

—MERRY CHRISTMAS—

Benson High set a city high school record for scoring when the Bunies defeated Blair 65-6. Coach Adams, a former University of Omaha coach, annually builds a formidable team.

Sports Program To Be Expanded

There is a rumor around that the sport's program for the coming year is to be expanded. Wrestling has already been added to the list of football and basketball. In the spring, so the rumor goes, the University of Omaha will have a baseball team and a track squad. In expanding in this way, many men will be able to partake in athletics where only a few have before.

The new wrestling coach, Mr. Doughtitt, has been working his charges for the past week. The men under him seem to like the manly feeling of being able to bodily toss a human about.

The circulated report did not mention who the coaches for the new sports are to be. There was an attempt last year at baseball, and the men that played on the team were more than willing that there should be another. The only attempt at track has been the annual Gala Day Meet. This annual affair has always shown that there are many students interested.

Surprise Assembly Proves to Be Basketball Game

Those curious enough to attend assembly last Friday had the distinction of seeing Omaha University's 1930-31 basketball team in action. The first team scrimmaged for several minutes with the second team, the honors of the fray being with the regulars. Although the score was in favor of the first stringers, the seconds had several men that made good showings.

Fred Fry, at guard, displayed speed and accuracy in shooting that will cause the regular guards plenty of worry about their positions. Shelby Gamble, the sub-center, displayed his length in jumping center. He won the tip constantly from Hegarty, although Hegarty was the shining light on the regulars' offense. Bennie Huff was responsible for several good shots. Bennie adapts his football speed to the hardwood floors very pleasingly. Sandy Armentrout, the Omaha shadow, proved to be a capable defense man. He also is adapted to racing down the floor to sink a close shot on the offense.

The line up:

FIRSTS	POS.	SECONDS
Hegarty	C.	Gamble
Thompson	R. F.	Krutchon
Huff	L. F.	Keenan
Sales	R. G.	Sulhoff
Armentrout	L. G.	Fry

Referee—Hector Evans.

FORMER CHAMPS ORGANIZE B. B. TEAM

The girls who played on the Omaha University city championship team have organized the Pioneer Aircraft team. They are being coached by Tody Barber.

Girls playing on this team are the Grace twins, Leah Daubenheyer, Ellen Ann Slader, and Corrine Jensen.

Both Girls' Teams Have Been Chosen; Game Schedule Posted

The first and second teams of the University of Omaha girls' basketball squad have been chosen. The first team is comprised of Edna Jacobsen, Charlotte Fetterman, Dorothy Austin, and Genevieve Welch, guards; Maxine Munt and Rose Weber (captain), forwards; Myrtle Grip and Margaret Gloe, jump centers.

The second team consists of Dorothy Hughes, Nadine Shrader, forwards; Elena Beebe (captain), jump center, and Barbara Dallas, Mary Jane Davies, Patricia Murphy, and Hope Welburn at guarding position.

The first team played the second team in the first game of the season on December 6. The score was 32-8 in favor of the first team.

The second game of the first team was played last Saturday night with the Holy Name team. The game ended with a 19-16 score in favor of the Holy Name team. The same night the second team defeated the Y. W. C. A. team with a score of 20-11.

All the girls' basketball games are played in the Knights of Columbus Gym, starting at 7 o'clock. The admission for the evening's schedule of six games is only 25 cents. A schedule of the games will be posted on the bulletin board shortly.

STATE COLLEGE HAS OWN SKATING RINK

Western State College will have its own skating rink, Gunnison City, Colorado, has had the ground graded and made ready for flooding. The city will flood the pond the first time; then it will be up to the college to keep it in good condition for skating. The city has also agreed to donate the lights and water if the college will take care of the rink.

The most admirable feature of the new rink is that it will be free for use at all times. This is made possible by the excellent co-operation of the city council and the school authorities. Intramural hockey will also be started shortly as well as a faculty hockey team.

James Gives History of Department

It is interpreted today. This class will meet twice a week.

Prof. Orr stated that Writing for Publication will be sort of an experimental course to discover what each is capable of writing. Various forms will be taken up as the essay, character sketches, the magazine article, and the narrative. Two hours will be given for this work.

The fundamental nature of man, a psychological discussion of his wants and needs, a discussion of trade names and trade marks, the mechanism of the defense on the part of the consumer, the psychological background of selling—all these will be delved into in the Business Psychology class.
